BREMEN, Aug. IL.—Two steamers are towing the North German Lloyd liner Frankfurt, with 1200 emigrants on board, into this port. The Frankfurt was badly damaged in a collision with an unknown steamer near the Haak lightship. Soon after the crush the Frankfurt began shipping water in large quantities, but the unknown steamer kept on her way despite calls for help from the disabled steamer's siren. The Frankfurt sent wireless calls for help, but two steamers passing heard her ziren and went to the rescue. It is not believed the emigrants are in danger, as, should the Frankfurt sink, they can be transferred to the escort steamers in a short time. By International News Service.

ATTEMPTS MURDER

By International News Service GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 11.— Concealed in a box supposed to contain trinkets which the young woman had given him, a bomb sent by a young man of Thomasville, N. C., to a High Point society girl who had rejected him, exploded in the office of the Southern Express company Saturday. Dear Sam—I don't know what you have heard or read, but it got down to a stage where the electric chair stared us in the face. The first man to try and get from under was Becker. There were many people who saw everything that night, and the next day the district attorney knew what part everybody played in the thing and nobody could have got away.

thing and nobody could have sot away.

I was deserted like a dog by Becker. When I saw what the situation was I opened up negotiations with the district attorney, who offered me a sort of a cover that I cannot go into details about by writing. I insisted that the same protection given me be extended to Harry, "Bridgy" and you, to which he finally agreed. We are all pleased with the arrangements and our worry has been to get you to come in, to get the same benefits we got, before it is too late.

My advice is to let me send a representative of the district attorney to bring you back here. That would prevent the police getting you and putting you through a third degree. Don't say a word to anyone. You know, Sam, that you have been too loyal and dear a friend of mine to ask you to do this if I wasn't positive that you haven't got a chance otherwise. Immediately upon receipt of this wire me to Louis's house what you want to do.

Reason for Confession.

Reason for Confession.

The date of Scheppe's arrival in New York will not be revealed, not even to the New York police department, but it is supposed that he will leave here under strong guard of the district attorney's detectives within a day or two. Schepps probably will make a clean breast of the whole matter, more to aid his "pal." Jack Rose, than to further the ends of justice. His confession, if he tells all the claims to know, will probably reveal the whereabouts of "Gyp, the Blood" (Harry Horowitz) and "Lefty" Louie, the two remaining members of the gunmen's gang who fired the shots into Rosenthal and who are still at large.

Wants No Interpreter.

"Well, captain, I have told you a great deal more than I will ever tell Whitman or anybody else," sald Schepps tonight when Captain of Police George Howell, who has him in personal custody, took bim to dinner.

when Capiain of Police George Howell, who has him in personal custody, took him to dinner.

"And I won't have much to say en route to New York," said Schepps. "It is one long think for me on that trin. If the district attorney thinks he will have a whole lot of stuff to report to his chief when he gets through with me, he is mistaken. The officer I travel with is going to play solitaire with me on the whole of the trip, and that is a cinch. Whatever I tell or whatever I have to tell that has direct hearing on this case I want it told straight and I want to tell it myself. It will be told so that the district attorney will not misunderstand." Schepps makes velled references to the actual murderers of Rosenthal, and tells enough to point out that they are not a hundred miles from Buffalo and are in a "plant."

Greed of the Grafters.

Murder Is Cheap.

Murder Is Cheap.

"Rosenthal could get a man assassinated for a five-dollar bill. That gave him a lot of confidence. He had the police in his power in a way, and he had a gang of gunmen and he didn't feel that he should give up any more, and of course he couldn't operate without a division. Then came the crash."

Schepps was asked if the gamblers working under protection of the police operated openly. He smiled. "No, they work hehind four and five heavily barred refrigerator doors. They don't have to have open doors or signs out in New York. Why, a man can make a fortune in a little while in a heavily barred gambling house through only a few men, and he would tender an invitation to come to his place, and he needn't have such a long invitation list either."

When Schepps came to Hot Springs he selected a quiet place to live. A physician and his wife met. "Mr. Samuel When Schepps came to Hot springs he selected a quiet place to live. Predicts Chair for Becker.

If Lieutenant Becker gets the fate that Schepps predicts for him he will go to the electric chair, and this is not a fate inspired in Schepps's mind by any enmity toward Becker. He recites that even beyond District Attorney Whitman men of power in New York will keep in touch with Becker and they will hold out to him that the prosecution cannot win if he don't squesal.

"They will carry him on this way," said Schepps, "until they tear him to death in silence. If Becker was on the way to the chair and they knew the juice was to be turned on him and he hesitated as if to squeai for immunity there are powers that would check him with the hope that the current would be misdirected."

Then Schepps talks about Whitman and the fact that he is one man in New York that money cannot reach. He lauds him to the sky for being Vetoes President Taft.

The session has been prolific of vetoes by President Taft. Since its beginning last December, he has written his disapproval across the face of seven bills passed by congress. One of these, the "Corbett tunnel bill," was repassed over his veto in the senate. It is expected that he will this week veto two or three other measures, including the steel and iron tariff and the appropriation bill fixing a limitation of seven years on civil service terms.

The senate has ratified nine treatles during the session, including those with France and Great Britain, which the president refused to accept in amended form, and the following.

ARREST OF SCHEPPS CAUSES SENSATION

By International News Service,

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.-Never in its history has the police department of New York been so astounded as by the arrest of Sam Schepps in Hot Springs, Ark., and Schepps's statement that five policemen, all friends of his, connived at his escape The sensation of the capture of Schepps spread from the office of Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo to the beat of the Rhinelander Waldo to the beat of the lowest in rank of the big force.

"What will Schepps tell?" was the question on every lip and the whole city wondered why, if reporters could locate Schepps in twenty hours, the city's police and detectives had not been able to locate him in twenty-five days. The arrest of the paymaster of the gangsters who murdered Herman Rosenthal leaves only two men, Harry Horowitz and Louis Rosenzwig, remaining to complete the quartette who killed the gambler. It is believed Schepps's confession will locate them.

The district attorney will begin work The district attorney will begin work tomorrow on requisition papers on the governor of Arkansas for Schepps, though the latter has expressed his willingness to come here without this formality. The district attorney also sent positive orders that Schepps should not be delivered to the police authorities of New York and under no circumstances will the prisoner be permitted to enter the custody of any one but detectives sent from the district attorney's office. Schepps is desperate and, according to dispatches from Hot Springs tonight, it is feared he will try to kill himself.

Greed of the Grafters.

He places the blame for the downfall of the network of graft that has been worked in New York on two things, but centers the blame on the greed of the men who furnish the protection.

"It got to be awful," said Schepps. "I worked with the men who needed protection and with the men who furnished protection and the latter are responsible for all the troubles.

"If they were getting 25 per cent they wanted 40. If they were getting 40 they wanted 55, and then if they saw a poor devil who was coughing up all he could aiready, buying a bottle of wine for a girl, or riding in a taxlcab, they thought he was doing too well financially, and would come along and squeeze a larger piece from him.

"That was where Rosenthal fell out with them. Rosenthal had a more powerful hunch of gunmen at his command than any other man in New York, and don't doubt now but that they are just as loyal to his memory as they were to his command.

Murder Is Cheap. outraged by the conduct of Mayor Gaynor and his appointees," said Mr. Curran, "that there is now on foot a concrete plan to circulate a huge petition to request him to resign. Two men of reputable character whom I know to be responsible and honorable have been to see me about it. Let me say that the present vice conditions have been brought about by the negligence, apathy, or worse, of Gaynor appointees. We have been cognizant of this shameful state of affairs for some time and the aldermanic committee is to meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afterneon to select counsel for the investigation. There could not be an illegal resort open in Greater New York for ten days if Mayor Gaynor ordered Police Commissioner Waldo to close it."

Graft Corporation. Graft Corporation.

Following on this sensation New York was awakened again by the laying hare of a $1,000,000 graft corporation, formed to take care of the "genteel grafters" who would not stain their hands with cash, but who took stock in this enormously profitable company for their share of the boodie of the city. William J. Burns uncovered the new incorporated graft scheme disguised as the "Moving Picture Corporation." The grafters are all known to Detective Burns.

The corporation, capitalized at one million dollars, operates a chain of moving picture houses throughout Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn and even in outlaying suburban towns. It is reaping a tremendous harvest of nickels and dimes which are split up among the biggest tremendous harvest of nickels and dimes which are split up among the higgest grafters in the history of New York City Burns plans to show that the stock in this moving picture organization was issued to high officials in the city administration as their share of police graft. People who would not take money were convinced that stock in this corporation could not be traced if ever the matter became public. In this way the higher-ups got their money in the profits from this corporation, which had an elastic charter, and which covered every form of vice in the city when the operatives desired to make it do so.

Startling Disclosure.

Startling Disclosure.

Then came another startling disclosure. A well-informed official of the city government stated that a certain police inspector, well known to all New York, may join Police Lieutenant Charles Becker within the Tombs in a few days. This inspector will be charged, it is said, with instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the charge on which Becker is held. It is conceded that Becker was not alone in his operations and it is reported that the district attorney has the names of two inspectors and one civillan who were interested with Becker in the collection and distribution of the graft from the gambling houses and the dives.

So far not a single politician has appeared in this graft tangle, thereby revealing an entirely different "system" from those with which the Lexow and other investigations have had to deal. In this present case the police have fixed, enforced and collected their own graft whereas in the past some politicians or politicians have been the go-betweens for the gamblers and the police.

Those same officials stated that Becker's share of graft for the past twelve months had been not less than $108,000, and it was learned this afternoon that since Becker's arrest $22,000 has been drawn from his deposits at various banks.

It is Colonel Roosevelt's purpose to make a positive right for the Progressive platform and ticket rather than against the Republican and Democratic candidates. In the opening speeches of his campaign he plans to lay chief emphasis upon what the Progressive party proposes to do rather than to assail his opponents. By making positive rather than negative arguments Colonel Rooseveit hopes to place the other candidates on the defensive.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—An interpretation of the campaign contribution and publicity law, that it intends to forbid candidates for the house and senate to advocate the election of any presidential candidate, is today a source of much speculation among members of congress.

Many members who seek re-election particularly Republicans, and who insist that advocacy of a presidential candidate by congressional nominees is contrary to the spirit of the measure, quote the following in support of their contention:

"No candidate for representative in congress or for senator of the United States shall promise any office or position to any person or to use his influence or to sive his support to any person for any office or position for the purpose of procuring the support of such person or of any person in his candidacy."
